

Kilian Schober studied Medicine at the Universities of Würzburg and London. After his MD thesis in the lab of Stephan Kissler at Harvard Medical School, Kilian trained to become a medical specialist for Microbiology, Virology and Epidemiology of Infections and joined the team of Dirk Busch at the Technical University of Munich (TUM) as a post-doctoral fellow. As of 2021, he has been a group leader at the Institute of Microbiology in Erlangen (FAU).